

Medical Communications Graduate Internship (12 weeks)

Porterhouse Medical Ltd

Porterhouse Medical Ltd is a specialist medical communications agency working with some of the biggest pharmaceutical companies in the world, helping them to connect with a global audience of healthcare professionals and increasingly knowledgeable patients. The company has seen continued growth over the past decade and has recently secured new business wins on both a global and national level. This success has culminated in Porterhouse Medical being recognised with the Queen's Award for Enterprise 2016 – the UK's highest accolade for outstanding achievement in business.

Our employees include medical writers, account managers and designers, who work together on a variety of projects to ensure they are completed to the highest standards for our clients. Porterhouse demands high standards from its staff, but also fosters a relaxed, friendly and supportive working environment, where teamwork is an everyday occurrence.

Internship description

We are offering a 12-week internship for a bright, enthusiastic life-science graduate with a passion for science and communication. The successful candidate will benefit from the opportunity to experience first-hand the workings of a successful medical communications agency. In addition to gaining experience of industry-specific tools and processes, and providing general support to our medical writers and account managers, the successful candidate will undertake their own project, guided by a member of our team.

Requirements

Life Science Graduate (2:1 or above)

Salary

£3,000 for the 12-week internship.
